

You just wouldn't; would you?!

You wouldn't even consider reusing a condom, now would you? So why is reusing a jet tip any more acceptable?

Especially as there's absolutely no need. The Propulse III electronic ear syringe is recommended for use with disposable, one-use jet tips.

If you are familiar with the Propulse, the disposable tips are exactly the same size as the reusable tips and work in exactly the same way; the simple difference is that they are one-use.

These disposable tips, used in conjunction with the Propulse Cleaning Tablets for the machine itself – also from Mirage Health Group - give you a real 'belt and braces' approach to cross infection control.

The National Guidelines for Ear Care – PECC state that 'to prevent cross infection between patients, clinicians must use a new tip for each treatment'. They are supplied in a box of 100 individually wrapped tips.
